The subject of the lecture was the "Retreat of the Ten Thousand." Mr. Adams is well versed in classic lore and he is a man of very fine literary attainments, and his subject afforded him material for portraying a grand imposing and eloquent literary picture to his fortunate auditors.

New Altar.

The celebration of the Feast of Sacred Heart will take place in the Church of the Sacred Heart on Sunday June 3. In the afternoon of that day the Right Rev. Bishop Wigger will officiate at the cere- mony of blessing two new and beautiful marble altars that have been placed in the Church, one in the chapel of the Blessed Virgin, and the other in the chapel of the Sacred Heart.

The altar in the chapel of the Blessed Virgin is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, and is a memorial of their two children John and Edward McGrath.

The altar in the chapel of the Sacred Heart is placed in there in honor of the Sacred Heart, and is the gift of the fol- lowing persons; Mrs. T. Schofield, Mrs. John Noll, Mrs. Catherine Newport, Mrs. Julia McGlynn, Mrs. David Ledwith of Orange, Michael Higgins, Mrs. Thomas Flannary, Michael Hickey, Mrs. Bridget Murphy, Charles Murray, Vicor Fahey, Frank L. O'Brien, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. Julia Flannagan, Miss Agnes Flan- nagan, Mrs. John Hallinan, Miss Annie O'Brien, Miss Ellen Callahan, William McGregor, Mrs. Johanna Barth, Mrs. Mary Day, Martin Callahan and Mrs. Elizabeth Davenport, and a contribution in memory of Mrs. Mary Ann O'Hara. The altars are constructed of beautiful Italian marble.

The altar in Blessed Virgin's Chapel is erected on a large marble platform and the panels of the altar are of Mexican Oynx. On it will be placed a group of statuary representing the Virgin giving the rosary to St. Dominick.

The panels of the altar in the Sacred Heart chapel are of Sienna marble, and the columns of Oynx and the statuary represents the Saviour with out stretch- ed arms interceeding for mankind. The high altar in the sanctuary of the church has been taken down and is undergoing reconstruction at the hands of Hunt Bros. of Newark, who also built the other altars.

Ensslin-Kern.

The German Presbyterian Church at Orange Valley was filled on Wednesday evening by members of the congregation and their friends, to witness the marriage ceremony of their pastor, Rev. John F. Kern to Miss Pauline C. Ensslin of this place. The bride was attired in a dress of cream colored silk, with diamond or- naments, and carried a boquet of tea roses, tied with satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Lavinia M. Berstecher, Minnie Berstecher, nieces of the bride, Kate Bickler of this place, and Mary Pflug of Elizabeth. They wore white dotted swiss trimmed with lace and ribbon.

The groomsmen were four students from the German Seminary;—Messrs. Ernest Saure, Herman E. Schnatz, Otto Dietrich and George Schnencker.

The ceremony was preformed by the Rev John Rudolph of Hoboken, brother- in-law of the bride. Miss Mary Berstecher presided at the organ and played the wedding march. After a reception they departed on a wedding tour to Washington, D. C. The pre- sents were numerous, handsome and costly.

Suit Over a Sign.

A store sign was the cause of a lively suit before Police Justice Hall at Bloom- field Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. John Herrman sued Lung Wah to recover the value of a sign which until recent[illegible] over the laundry of Sam Lee, who rented the store where the laundry was located from Mrs. Herrmann Lee, for reasons best known to himself, departed and left things in the care of John Gosre, while Lung Wah claims to have pur- chased the sign. When the latter started to take it down the owner of the store remonstrated, but to no avail, and then she had Lung Wah arrested. A suit to recover the sign was then begun. John L. Johnson, the ex-Judge, represented Lung Wah and E. A. Rayner, the plain- tiff. A previous decision of Justic Hall gave Mrs. Herrmann $20 and costs, which Lung Wah objected to. Decision was reserved.

Spring School of Methods.

The Essex County Woman's Christian Temperance Union's Spring School of Methods was held in the Park M. E. Church on Thursday. All the towns in the county were well represented. Two sessions were held, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Mrs. M. L. Downs, County President presided. Papers were read on various branches of temperance work and several addresses were made. The delegates from abroad were hospitably entertained by the local union and a very pleasant day was spent.

Bible Talk.

Mrs. Margaret Bottome, who is so widely known as the President of the King's Daughters' Order, will deliver one of her charming Bible talks on Sunday evening, May 20, 7.45, in the Glen Ridge Church, under the auspices of the King's Daughters' Circle of Glen Ridge. All are cordially invited to be present, and it is hoped that every King's Daughter in town will welcome the opportunity to see and hear Mrs. Bottome.

W. C. T. U.

The regular weekly meeting of the Bloomfield Woman's Christian Temper- ance Union will be held next Tuesday at 2.30 P. M. at the reading-rooms on Broad Street, next to the Post-office. All are invited to attend this meeting. The Loyal Temperance Legion School will be held at 3.30 P. M. at the same place.

Show Coming to Town.

The grand Hippo-Olympia, the great- est 10 and 20 cent shown ever put on the road, will exhibit in this town on Monday and Tuesday of next week. There will be a street parade each morning, and a performance each after- noon and evening. A great array of talent will appear in the circus ring.

Exempt Firemen to Parade.

At the meeting of the Bloomfield Exempt Firemen's Association held on Tuesday evening an invitation was ex- tended to all exempt firemen residing in Bloomfield to take part in the Decora- tion Day parade. They are requested to meet at the Truck House at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 30th.

Coal Prices.

There are rumors of an advance in the wholesale price of coal. Charles Murray & Sons will notify their friends and customers of the proper time to order coal. The Messrs. Murray state that there is no need of any hurry in purchasing.—Advt.

TROLLEY CARS.

A Protest Against Their Introduction in This Town—Citizens Urged to Arouse Themselves Before it is Too Late.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CITIZEN:

SIR: As a community like Bloomfield is merely an aggregation of individuals, bound together by ties of mutual inter- est, and controlled by a government of their own selection, whose action should be in accordance with the best and truest regard for the well-being and happiness of the largest number of residents, and the protection of all from any encroachment upon their safety, happiness, or liberty, it is necessary that the administration of town matters should be free from partisanship, and that no private inter- ests should be allowed, in the slightest degree, to interfere with the welfare or rights of citizens at large.

It is proposed to allow a traction com- pany to establish and operate a trolley system in Bloomfield; permission has already been given at a public meeting of citizens, called for the purpose. Al- most any measure can be forced through a town meeting, where a majority of those present have not properly consider- ed the bearing and importance of the matters to be voted upon, and are large- ly influenced by skilfully worded argu- ments, which have been previously con- sidered and studied, for the purpose of influencing the vote of the meeting.

I believe the only remaining public action necessary to the accomplishment of this measure is, that the terms upon which the company is to receive its franchise are to be sanctioned by another public meeting.

In view of the appalling results to human life and limb wherever this dead- ly system has been in operation, as scarcely a newspaper can be picked up in which details of sacrifice of life, or terrible injury which wrecks the future happi- ness of the unfortunate victims, are not recorded, are you willing that this great outrage upon the rights of us all shall be allowed to precipitate its deadly work here?

Remember that after the franchise is granted we shall be helpless, and this relentless and conscienceless corpora- tion will hold us at their mercy; that we shall have sold ourselves and our rights, utterly and completely; that our little innocent ones, toddling to school, will probably furnish a great number of vic- tims; that carriage riding, one of the most enjoyable sources of pleasure, will have added to its present danger the [illegible] Patent Office in New Jersey. the glare and [illegible] current the clang of the gongs, and the fright caused by cars in motion without horses.

Why should we sacrifice our beautiful Broad Street from end to end to this monstrous evil, with all its attendant hororrs, while we compel the steam rail- roads to place gates at all intersections of streets, and fence their lines where they pass through a town? Where is the difference? The trolley is equally danger- ous. Would you consent to allow steam- cars to traverse Broad Street its whole length, with no gates and no fences? Would you not think that you had abro- gated your right to the street in such a case? Why do you forbid even fast driv- ing on your streets? Is it not because of its danger? The speed of a trolley car cannot be controlled; they have never yet been controlled in this particular, and never will be, as the rate of speed cannot be proven, and it is to the interest of the company, and consequently of the mo- torman, to make as much time as possi- ble.

Do you think it will be subserving the interests of our citizens to allow this in- famy to be established here? Is not hu- man life of greater concern than the paltry sum the town will receive for the franchise? The evils are so horrible, and the danger so great, that almost every town where the trolley system has been established is crying out in anguish, but without avail, to be rid of it.

Let our citizens who respect their rights arouse themselves before it is too late, and prevent this abomination.

R. W. GARDNER.

Death of Henry Taylor.

Henry Taylor, aged 67 years, a well known resident of Watsessing, died at his home on Myrtle Street Thursday afternoon after two weeks illness from lockjaw. Mr. Taylor was a native of England. He has resided in Watsessing upward of forty years. He was a hatter by trade. He served in the war of the Rebellion and was a member of William S. Pierson Post G. A. R. He leaves a wife and three sons Joshua, W. Samuel and Henry Taylor. The funeral service will take place Sunday afternoon. The funeral will be attended by William Pier- son Post G. A. R. The post will as- semble in the G. A. R. Hall at 2 P. M. sharp, Sunday, May 20, and proceed to his late residence on Myrtle Street. All veterans are invited to go with the Post.
